Resolutions Over the Killing of President McKinley Adopted.

A resolution prepared by Secretary Cassel, of the Persimmon Brigade, in memory of President McKinley was read and adopted by the association yesterday. The preamble to the resolution says: "In view of the recent shocking tragedy enacted y the bold high hand of treason in a popuous American city, by which the loyal peole of this country have been suddenly lunged into the depths of an abyss of biterest sorrow and the whole Nation veiled n a pall of deepest gloom, we desire to offer the following." Then follow the resoutions, which cover four sheets of legal ap paper. After reciting some of the inuences that led up to anarchy the resoluions read: "In the reflection on th causes of so heinous a crime we can but regard it as a blow, not directed so much pon the personage of the man McKinley out aimed by the assassin and his wicken ecomplices as a bold thrust at the vitals free government through its chief. The members of Bessonies Commandery, THE Knights of Father Mathew, adopted the following memorial on the death of President McKinley at their meeting Tuesday

"In common with all American citizens, the members of the Knights of Father Mathew deeply deplore the terrible tragedy which was enacted at Buffalo and which resulted in the death of our beloved President, William McKinley. That our country, in the midst of its greatest prosperity, should, by the act of an insensate person be robbed of the one who, in a large degree, was responsible for this prosperity, is a crime which at once arouses our indignation for the perpetrator and our heart's deepest sympathy for the family of the martyred President.

"The character of the President is reflected in the words and actions of his death bed. No one can assert, as is usually done regarding the utterances of great men, that those beautiful words of the dying President were said for personal or political gain, because the world held nothing more for him and his dying words were those of a true Christian and a true man. While we deeply feel the awful calamity which has befallen us and our country, we can only say, in the words of the dying President, 'God's will, and not ours, be tant prize drill contest at the fair grounds yesterday morning caused the state fair to take on an air of fresh activity and interest. Unusual interest is being taken in the drills in Indianapolis because the prizes offered are among the largest known to such contests. The competing cantons are divided into three classes-A, B and C, according to the number of officers and men | as the day's programme will end the imappearing for the contest. Cantons enering Class A must have twenty-five, B eighteen and C fifteen officers and men.

The drills take place on the race track, immediately in front of the grand stand. The track yesterday was in perfect condition for drilling, the earth being firmly packed and smooth as a pine-board floor. The further fact that the air was so chill as to be uncomfortable to men sitting about with nothing to do made the members of the various cantons eager to begin the work of drilling. Accordingly, when the bugle sounded to summon the first canton little time was lost in getting from Camp Cable to the drill ground.

The judges of the drills are Lieut, W. E. Gilmore of the Fifteenth Regiment, Lieut. S. C. Leasure of the Fourteenth Regiment, United States army, Capt. David F. Allen, of Frankfort, Ind., and Lieuten-ants Tarleton and Boyle, of this city, a trio of Philippine veterans. Prior to being called to the drill ground the cantons that participated in yesterday morning's events were inspected in the camp in front of Major General Bodine's headquarters. This nspection consisted of a rigid examination of the condition of all swords, uniforms and other equipment of the officers and nen, and of the military appearance of the members of cantons and their proficiency in preparing themselves for inspection. CANTONS THAT DRILLED.

The cantons that drilled yesterday morning were: In Class B, Canton Victoria, No. 5, from St. Thomas, Ontario, commanded by Capt. James B. Squance; in Class C, Canton Washington, No. 1, from Washington, D. C., commanded by D. V. Chisholm; Canton 52, from Noblesville, Ind., commanded by Capt. J. O. Clark, and Canton No. 53, from Alexandria, Ind., commanded by Capt. A. F. Sala Canton Vera Cruz, No. 6, of Vera Cruz, Greenville, O., were to have taken part in the drill yesterday, but neither canton put in an appearance. Canton Victoria went on the drill field in full dress uniform, while the cantons that competed in Class C were full fatigue uniforms. The regulations governing these drills permit cantons to appear in either full dress or full fatigue uniforms, but if the members of a canton undertake to wear parts of both costumes they lose in the "scoring" thereby. Full dress consists of a chapeau, with olumes, a long coat with a baldrick (shoulder strap) and trousers to harmonize. The chapeaus of officers have plumes of red over white, while those of the chevaliers (privates) have purple over white. Full fatigue consists of fatigue coats and trousers, the design of crossed sword and crook worked in the collar of the coat. The cap is the regulation fatigue or forage cap quite similar to that worn in the army. When the first canton, the Victoria, No. appeared on the drill grounds, a few minites after 9 o'clock, it was greeted with an outburst of applause that testified the friendly feeling Americans hold towards their British cousins. The crowd in the ing the race track was not nearly as large as it became later in the morning when he sun shone out bright and full, tempering the chill of the atmosphere, but there was an audience of respectable size to witness the brilliant military maneuvers and presented, after which the judges gave the order to commence the drill. The evidently thorough knowledge of tactics possessed by both officers and chevaliers, together with the dash and spontaneity with which the various intricate and picturesque maneuvers and evolutions were executed made the drills so interesting that the attention of spectators was held throughout the

Victoria Canton had a little the advantage of the other cantons as far as appearance went on account of the almost spectacular brilliance of its full dress uniforms, but the regulations do not contemplate that the kind of uniforms worn by cantons shall operate either in their favor or against them in scoring. The canton from Ontario (Victoria, No. 5. Thomas) had little trouble in winning the prize money in Class B, $500, since it was the only canton of that class that appeared on the drill ground. The result might well have been the same, however, had there been competition, for the men from St. Thomas, Ontario, are thoroughly seasoned. Their record of prize winning is long one. They secured first prize at the ollowing places in the years given: Essex Center, July 1, 1889; St. Thomas, May 26, 1890; Petrolia, July 1, 1891; Galt and trophy, July 29, 1891; St. Thomas, May 24, 1892; Cleveland, O., July 26, 1894; Milton, July 1, 1900; Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 21, 1900. The names of prize-winning cantons wi not be given out officially until the awards are made in Tomlinson Hall to-morrow night, at which time the official scores will be made public and the purses handed ove to the winners. It was the general impression at Camp Cable yesterday, however, that the prize of $250 offered for the best canton in Class was captured by Canton Alexandria, No. from Alexandria, Ind., Captain J. O. Clark in command. The manual used by the Patriarchs Millitant is little different from that used by the army, one notable exception being that the chevaliers use swords instead of guns. So nearly like the army maneuvers are those executed by the cantons of Patriarchs Militant that it was a frequent comment among

Camp Cable was a busy place yesterday, but the hurry and hustle incident to preparation for competitive drills did not detract one whit from the admirable order that is such a pleasing feature of the camp. The Patriarchs Militant seem as much accustomed to the rigors of camp life as real oldiers are. Perfect discipline is maintained at all times, due respect is never lenied the officers, and altogether the camp bears a close resemblance to an encamp-esy of the commanding officers. They Canton Victoria, No. 5: Lieutenant colonel, Fred Doggett; major, James B. Squace;

Camp Cable officers are unanimous in praise of the Indianapolis police force for the splendid manner in which the great crowd was handled during Tuesday's parade. A large flag in front of the Ohio head quarters is draped in mourning in memory of the late President McKinley. The Buckeye delegation would have been even larger but for the assassination. The older officers of the Odd Fellows say that Grand Secretary W. H. He is quoted as saying he does not expect to get tired until Saturday Adam Walk, of Pueblo, Col., grand representative from the Centennial State, was at Camp Cable yesterday and called on Maj. Gen.
